

Chorshanbi Safarov Ibodullayevich

Engineer of the Department of Scientific Research and Academic Staff Training at TSUULL, PhD Student.

Chorshanbi Safarov is an Engineer at the Department of Scientific Research and Academic Staff Training at Alisher Navo'i Tashkent State University of Uzbek Language and Literature (TSUULL), and a University Researcher.

He completed his Bachelor's degree in Uzbek Language and Literature from 2020 to 2024, followed by a Master's degree in Linguistics (Uzbek Language) from 2024 to 2026. In 2026, he became a University Researcher at TSUULL. He began his professional career in 2023 as an Engineer at the Department of Scientific Research and Academic Staff Training at TSUULL, where he continues to work.

His research focuses on the topic "Lexical Features of Botu's Poetry." His academic interests include Uzbek linguistics, particularly lexicology, linguopoetics, literary text analysis, and the national-semantic features of linguistic units.

His research activities include scholarly articles entitled "A Linguistic Study of Botu's Literary Works," "A National-Semantic Analysis of Similes in Botu's Poetry," and "The Comprehension of Insult Words."

He was the winner of the university-level article competition on the topic "Tashkent: Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow." He also participated in the 9th International Scientific and Practical Conference entitled "Issues of Philology: Through the Eyes of Young Researchers," held on November 30, 2024.

His professional responsibilities include supporting and coordinating scientific research activities, facilitating the training of academic personnel, and managing documentation related to scientific research and postgraduate education.