About the conference

The TSUULL Conference on Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) Implementation is a strategic initiative aimed at addressing pressing issues related to lifelong career guidance and counseling, with a strong focus on eliminating gender bias and stereotypes. These efforts contribute to promoting gender equality, sustainable and green production to reduce greenhouse emissions, and the imperative to reduce social and economic inequalities both locally and globally.

Prof. Dr. Shuhrat Sirojiddinov, Rector of TSUULL, emphasized the pivotal role of education, research, and innovation in sustainable development, noting their significance in achieving the 2030 Sustainable Development Agenda. The Government of Uzbekistan continues its comprehensive socio-economic reforms to enhance the well-being of its citizens and align with the SDGs.

Recognizing the importance of NGOs in implementing the SDGs in partner countries, UNESCO advocates prioritizing this agenda. This conference offers a unique perspective on the SDGs from Uzbekistan, shedding light on the needs, challenges, and opportunities.

Key Questions Addressed at the Conference:

- How are the SDGs prioritized from an Asian perspective?
- What are the primary obstacles hindering their implementation?
- How has the global climate crisis affected SDG implementation?
- What forms of cooperation and support do Asian countries prioritize?

The conference will feature distinguished speakers, including researchers and academics from Asian countries, with a special focus on Uzbekistan. Representatives from the NeO Erasmus office and the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP) will also share their insights.

TSUULL students are strongly encouraged to participate and have been granted a schedule-free day for this purpose.
